

EVE WILLIAMS
(NEW HALL, 2001)

Through the New Hall Society, I volunteer my time to support existing and prospective Murray Edwards students, encouraging them to really believe they can achieve whatever they want. It sounds like a cliché but I do believe that my time at New Hall and Cambridge overall gave me the confidence to stretch myself. I've met lots of students who are either thinking about applying or who have recently started studying at Murray Edwards – I hope that I've encouraged them to believe they can achieve that little bit more and still have fun while doing it!

Keep in touch: Do let us know your news and whereabouts, so that we may help to keep you in touch with each other and give you the best experience of being an alumna of Murray Edwards College. You are also welcome to submit news for the annual New Hall Society Review. The alumnae pages on the College website will keep you up to date with upcoming events. You can also update your details there, or contact us directly to do that via newhallsociety@murrayedwards.cam.ac.uk

Welcome to the New Hall Society

What is the New Hall Society?

Congratulations! Today you become a member of the New Hall Society – the alumnae association for Murray Edwards College.

We aim to keep you in touch with the College and with each other. There are nearly 6000 members worldwide, living varied and amazing lives, who have in common their experience at this College and their desire to see women succeed, in life and at work.

As you find your way in the world, the New Hall Society is here for you – we can connect you to alumnae living and working in the same region or country as you, facilitate mentoring from alumnae whose careers and paths have mirrored your own, or simply give you the opportunity to meet new friends at our regular events.
